Last Week In Kentucky

Road Funds
Kentucky's increased gasoline tax seems to be paying off to the tune of an additional eight million dollars for improvement in the state's roads.

Rural highway commissioner Emerson Beauchamp announced during the week just ended that each Kentucky county will receive about two and one-half times as much state money for rural road purposes next year as it did last year.

And the increase—which amounts to eight of the 12-million dollars that will be allotted—is attributed to the two-cent addition to the gasoline tax. You'll recall that the last general assembly raised the tax from five to seven cents on the gallon.

Inauguration
The general election has been over more than a month now, but still hasn't been forgotten.

Plans were made last week for prominent Kentuckians to attend the inauguration of President Truman and vice-president elect Alben Barkley of Kentucky next January 20 in Washington.

Kentucky will march second in the inaugural parade, in honor of the veteran senator from Paducah. Democratic campaign manager Edward Seiler says that a special train is planned to take Kentuckians to the nation's capital. The train, to be known as "The Governor's Special" will accommodate about 250 persons.

General
And now for a quick review of other events in the state during the week just ended.

Warden Francis Kieren of the LaGrange reformatory announced that he is resigning effective December 31. The reason? He says he is tired, fed up and wants to take a rest. He will be succeeded temporarily by deputy warden R. L. Whaley, 33-year-old World War II veteran. Kieren says he hopes Whaley will be the man to succeed him permanently, but the new warden must be appointed by Governor Clements.

Three Louisville, Kentucky, residents have asked Governor Clements to hold out proceedings against Lawrence county sheriff Proctor Fyffe. They charge Fyffe permitted gambling at a school carnival last July. The petition requesting the hearing already has been approved by assistant attorney general M. B. Hollifield, who has recommended that Governor Clements hold the ouster hearing. There is no comment from the Governor's staff, and Clements is in Washington over the weekend.

The burley tobacco market set a seasonal high last Monday. But during the week the prices gradually fell off. By Friday, the average was down to $46.64 per hundred pounds. The sales start again Monday, with the selling period three hours daily.

Fraternities at the University of Kentucky were stirred because of the low scholarship records of members. Colonel Ralph Wilson of Lexington, who is chairman of the college fraternity scholarship officers' association, told the University the situation is "deplorable."

Elsewhere, Kentucky's 11 presidential electors will meet in Frankfort Monday to cast their votes for President Truman and Senator Barkley. President John W. Taylor of the University of Louisville says in his annual report on the school that the institution needs between five and six hundred thousand dollars for emergency repairs and maintenance, and at Madisonville, employees of the Campbell Shirt Factory voted against union representation.

Income Tax Man To Visit Murray

Collector of Internal Revenue, S. R. Glenn, announces that a deputy from his office will visit Murray-January 4 through January 7; January 10 through January 14, 1949 for the purpose of assisting farmers in preparing their January 15 declaration or final income tax returns, also taxpayers who would be required to file amended declaration returns or would be privileged to file final returns by January 15.

The Service is absolutely free. Collector Glenn urges the taxpayers of this county to see the deputy and let him help them with their income tax problems as there has been several changes in the new Act.

'Best Foot Forward' To Open At MHS Tonight

"Best Foot Forward" opens tonight at 8:00 o'clock in the Murray High School auditorium. This hilarious three-act comedy, which is being presented by the Masquers, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Snow, will also take the stage at the same time tomorrow night. A matinee is being provided for the Murray grade school at 1:00 o'clock this afternoon.

Much of the amusing confusion on which the play is built revolves around Gale Joy, the beautiful and even glamorous movie star. She receives a wistful letter from Bud Hooper, a student at Winsocki Prep school, in which he asks her to be his senior prom girl. What poor Bud doesn't know, however, is that Gale badly needs a publicity break; so, upon her manager's advice, she writes Bud a sweet letter in which she says that she will be only too glad to come to the senior prom. Bud, in the meantime, has his regular girl, Helen Schlesinger, on his hands. When Helen and Gale Joy discover that they are both supposed to be Bud's senior prom girl, the sparks began to fly.

The role of Gale Joy is played by Zetta Yates. Her manager, Jack Haggerty, is played by William McElrath; Bud Hooper by Bill Cain; and Helen Schlesinger by Anna Ruth Billington.

Other members of the cast are: Ruth Miller and Hank Hoyt, Bud's roommates (Paul Blankenship and Gene Geurin); Satchel Moyer and Chuck Green, a couple of fellows from down the hall (Joe Thurman and Rupert Parks Jr.); Minerva, Ethel the Blind Date, and Miss Delaware Water Gap, girls who come to Winsocki for the prom (Nancy Wear, Carolyn Melugin, Lochie Faye Hart, and Janet Smith); Dr. Becker, the stern principal of Winsocki (Billy Crago); Miss Smith, the chaperon, who has all the qualities one wishes a chaperone wouldn't have (Martha Jean Stagner); Professor Lloyd, a young teacher at the school (Gene Henderson); the Old Grad, a "hall fellow" met from the class of '31 (Donald Starks); and Chester Billings, the local newshawk (James Bondurant).

Two brief sketches from the play were received with high acclaim by the high school when they were presented on Friday morning. The production bids to provide an evening filled with laughter.

Tickets are fifty and thirty-cents. As an added attraction to the entertainment, the Murray High school girls' triple trio will perform between acts. One of their selections will be "Buckle Down, Winsocki," the fight song of the school at which the play takes place.

LOCAL STUDENTS APPOINTED TO UK 240 COMMITTEE

The University of Kentucky's Committee of 240, a service organization composed of students from throughout the state, has been organized for 1948-49 by the Department of Public Relations.

Purpose of the organization is to acquaint, particularly high school seniors with the University. Members of the committee of 240 will visit their home high schools during vacation time and supply interested persons with information about U. K.

This year's committee includes: Anne Woods, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Woods of Murray, and Charles D. Butterworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cloys Butterworth of Lynn Grove. Miss Woods is a graduate of Murray High School and Butterworth graduated from Lynn Grove High School.

Two Teams Added To Ohio Valley Conference

Marshall College of Huntington, West Virginia, and Tennessee Tech of Cookeville, Tennessee, have become members of the Ohio Valley Conference.

The two schools were voted in by the six original members at a meeting held in Louisville. The action was in accordance with the original plan of the conference to increase the membership to eight schools, as soon as possible.

Original members are the U. of L. Eastern State College at Richmond; Evansville College at Evansville, Indiana; Murray State at Murray; Western State at Bowling Green; and Morehead State College at Morehead.

The basketball tournament committee also met and set the tourney for February 24th through the 28th at the Jefferson County Armory at Louisville. Kelly Thompson, assistant to the president at Western, was named tournament manager. He says tourney squads will be limited to 12 men.

The delegates also set the spring track meet for May 28th, with Evansville College the host. The OVC golf and tennis tournaments will be held in Bowling Green on May 27th.

Breds Will Find Warmer Climate In Florida Bowl

The temperature in Orlando is 89 degrees and no frost as yet. Ed Mayo, publicity director of the Tangerine Bowl, reported in a release to the College News last week. "Our nights are cold and coats are in order," said Mr. Mayo. "The ladies who attend will be able to wear their Christmas togs with comfort providing the heavy coats and furs are checked until nightfall," he reported.

Half-time Festivities
A parade of "Queens" is planned for half-time. A U. S. Air Force band and two school bands will provide music at the New Year's day classic.

"There is a good possibility that all ladies in attendance will receive gifts as they enter the stadium," the publicist revealed.

Places of Interest
The football team will be given an opportunity to see Silver Springs, Cypress Gardens, Bok Tower, and other places of national interest in Florida, it is reported. "We believe our selection of teams to be the finest in the nation," Mr. Mayo said. Tangerine Bowl fans are looking forward to a wide open game. The betting in central Florida is even at this time," the publicity man concluded.

BUIST SCOTT' JR. TO GRADUATE DEC. 19 IN MEMPHIS

George Buist Scott, Jr., will graduate from the University of Tennessee, Memphis, Tenn., in the December graduation class of that school. Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Scott who reside on Main Street.

He graduated from Murray High School in 1941, and attended Murray State College in 1942, 1943 and 1946.

The degree that he will receive in this graduation will be the B. S. in Pharmacy.

In the December graduation class there will be 20 doctors of Medicine, 16 doctors of Dental Surgery, 59 Bachelors of Science in Pharmacy, 10 Certificates of Nursing, 2 Bachelors of Science, 5 Certificates in Medical Technology, and 3 Certificates in Roentgen Technique.

Scott is married to the former Miss Betty Chambers, daughter of Mrs. J. O. Chambers. He will assume his position as partner and pharmacist at Scott Drug Company upon his graduation.

Graduation exercises will be on Sunday and Monday December 19 and 20.

S. J. Foy Speaks On Extension Work To Agriculture Club

Calloway County Agent S. J. Foy told the Ag club Thursday night, Dec. 2, that agricultural extension work is not for anyone who is lazy or plans on making a fortune. "You don't need an alarm clock," said Mr. Foy. "Your telephone rings before time to get up every morning, and work continues late into the night."

He went on to explain that even though it was hard work, the compensation of being a public servant was worth to him the time and effort he put into his job. Mr. Foy then cited some of the ups and downs of a county agent and agricultural extension worker.

After the speech a short business meeting was conducted by President Dale Faughn. Twenty members and five visitors were present for the regular meeting.

Kentucky Electors Cast Votes Today

FRANKFORT—The man most in the minds of Kentucky's 11 presidential electors wasn't in Frankfort today when the group met to go through the formality of casting the state's votes for President and vice-president.

Vice-President elect Alben W. Barkley has sent word to Secretary of State George Glenn Hatcher that he was unable to come to Frankfort from his home at Paducah, Kentucky.

Nor could Governor Earle Clements attend. The Governor is in Washington, D. C., and his office says he will not return to Kentucky until late today.

Both Barkley and Clements had been scheduled to speak. Lieutenant Governor Lawrence Wetherby will substitute for Clements.

The oath of office was administered to the electors by Chief Justice Porter Sims of the state court of appeals. The Reverend Herbert Tinsley speaker of the state house of representatives gave the invocation.

Attorney General A. E. Funk was slated to explain provisions of Kentucky constitutional and statutory law relating to the electoral college. And Dean Elvis J. Stahr of the University of Kentucky law school was to tell of the history of the electoral college and Kentucky's participation therein.

The colorful ceremony was held in the state senate chamber and was expected to last until 12 noon or after. It started at 10 a. m.

Burley Brings Farmers Over 28 Million

LOUISVILLE — Burley tobacco auctioned in Kentucky last week sold for an average of $47.85 per hundred pounds, 50 cents off from the first sales week.

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture says 59,322,643 pounds brought Kentucky growers $28,380,285.

Sales for the season now total 150,100,000 pounds, slightly less than half the estimated crop of approximately 330 million pounds.

Field Secretary Here
B. D. Nesbet, field secretary of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board will be in Murray on December 21 for the purpose of aiding veterans and their dependents in filing claims and to advise them regarding any other benefits to which they may be entitled.

He will be located in the Peoples Savings Bank.

THOROUGHBREDS WIN FIFTH TIME THIS SEASON

The Murray Thoroughbreds rang the bell again Saturday night to get their fifth win of the season in as many starts to down Tennessee Tech with a score of 73 to 58.

Operating with smoothness and precision the 'Breds lashed out in the second half to run away from Tennessee Tech. Junior Herrold topped 21 points in the last twenty minutes to change it from a close race to a standstill for Murray. The score was 32 all at the half time. The UT Volunteers had topped Tech earlier by 13 points.

Use Christmas Seals

At this time of the year all of us are anxious to contribute something worth while to make others happy, or to relieve suffering among our people.
 It makes us happy to do so and our gifts, therefore, accomplished a double purpose.
 Quite a few years ago the friends interested in curbing the terrible scourge of tuberculosis set upon the idea of financing the fight against the dread disease through thousands of small contributions. It was the pre-Christmas season.
 The Christmas seal is the best-known method to secure these contributions and the local organization is sponsoring these seals again this year.
 We think that method of raising bond funds for the fight against tuberculosis is one of the best of the year to finance worthy causes.
 It is a cause we can contribute to on a truly free will basis. The seal does not have high-pressure methods in selling Christmas Seals, but they try to place them in the hands of all who wish to support this worthy cause.
 Thousands of people have adopted the use of Christmas Seals as standard holiday practice. They use them on gift packages and stick them in the back—never the front—of letters and Christmas cards.
 If you have not adopted the practice of using these little stamps, you will get a stamp from this year and thereby make a contribution to a worthy cause?

Christmas Shopping

If you are a busy person, you will find Christmas shopping a most trying task. With little time to spare, you will find it difficult to give every one what you want. The solution is to go shopping early. This way you will have time to select the perfect gift for each person. You will also have time to compare prices and to make sure you are getting the best value for your money. Christmas shopping is a time to be enjoyed, not a time to be rushed. Take your time and you will find it a most rewarding experience.

IT'S A STEAL—Back pockets used to be for men only but designer Harry Rosenfeld has slipped them into a wool shawl collar dress of classic shirtwaist style. The belt is topped off with a very unmasculine back decoration.

GOING UP!—Marcel Cerdan (right), who is tops in the middleweight division, outjumps Steve Beloise as they touch their toes in mid-air. Both are training in New York, Cerdan for an exhibition bout and Beloise for a non-title bout with welterweight Champ Ray Robinson. A win for Beloise may get him a crack at Cerdan's crown.

REMEMBER?

By B. W.
 A few days ago a friend invited us to take a "sight seeing" ride with him, and he stopped on the East highway and pointed to a field that had been cleared of timber several years ago, and asked if we remembered the wooded patch that used to be there, and if we remembered when "the boys" of Murray used to congregate there—especially on Saturday and Sunday—afternoons and have a friendly crap game. Then he drove to a spot near the old gravel pit, along-side the N. C. and St. L. railway and easily located another familiar spot where the 7-11 bones were rolled. We do remember those spots, and many of "the boys" on many occasions there were numbers of fans present to witness the dice-throwers.
 The oldest form of gambling in the world is dice; the oldest game is dominoes—Dice throwing is purely a game of chance; dominoes involve chance, as well as demanding skill from the player. Historians have been unable to determine whether dice was evolved from dominoes—or vice versa. There are 21 basic combinations in dice and 28 in dominoes, inasmuch as the latter includes an additional 7, due to blanks. So far back as civilization can be traced, there is found dice. The dice game found its way into Europe, where, it seems, the modern game of "raps" came into existence under the name of "Hazard." It was mentioned in several of Shakespeare's writings and as "hazard" it still continues in England, France and other countries.
 It seems that its first entrance into the U. S. was by way of New Orleans, and was then known as "hazard." The game was soon played on the Mississippi river boats, gained in favor in the towns along the route and, from St. Louis, it spread throughout the U. S. A.

Kentucky Belle's News

Hello folks! Here is Kentucky Belle and the blaze went to the top of the house and around the side had to miss you for a while, but just couldn't get around. I can't be out very long from the good old Ledger and Times after writing for 14 years.
 Come on Ole Maid and Kentucky Tiller and all the other correspondents and help me. Don't worry about what others say "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God."
 Kentucky Belle, Myrtle McClure and Pearl Green were in Mayfield Tuesday. Kentucky Belle also spent Saturday afternoon in Murray. Thanksgiving night with Ole Maid of Macedonia; Thanksgiving evening with Old Uncle Bud Todd; and with my sister, Mrs. Nollie Smith, spent Thursday in Paris.
 Kentucky Belle, Mrs. Dan Washburn, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Washburn and daughters, attended church at the Chestnut Street Tabernacle Sunday morning and evening.
 Ted Thorn and E. H. Simmons of Evansville, Ind., were Monday night guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Simmons of Murray. Mr. and Mrs. Thorn who have been living in Springfield, Tenn., are now residing in Evansville, Ind.
 I am glad to report that my little granddaughter, Mary Ann Thorn, is doing nicely after her bad accident.
 Well folks, Christmas is just around the corner and Santa is coming soon and I hope he won't forget poor little me.
 Mr. and Mrs. Dan Edwards, Kentucky Belle and husband are very busy stripping tobacco at this time. The children will all be home for Christmas.

Stitch and Chatter Meets With Mrs. Hugh Wilson

The Stitch and Chatter Club met at 7:30, Friday evening, with Mrs. Hugh Wilson. All members were present to participate in the colorful Christmas party that followed the business session. Mrs. C. E. Hale, president, presided.

During the course of the evening games and contests were enjoyed with Mrs. Ila Douglas being awarded the contest prize.

The hostess served tasty refreshments that carried out the Christmas motif.

Lynn Grove PTA To Meet Wednesday

The Lynn Grove Parent Teachers Association will meet on Wednesday evening, December 15 at 6:30. An interesting program has been planned including a pet luck supper, a Dads Night and a Christmas tree.

Each person attending is to bring a gift. After lunch the gifts will be exchanged and Christmas carols will be sung.

The P. T. A. invites all patrons to come and bring their families.

Christmas Party Held by Guild Of Meth. Church

Mrs. Wendell Binkley, Mrs. Walter Williams and Mrs. Cecil Farris entertained with a Christmas party at the Farris residence on Sycamore Thursday evening at 6:30. The occasion was in honor of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church.

Approximately thirty members and guests enjoyed the delicious chicken dinner and later played Guild during the past year.

The games were under the direction of Miss Charlotte Owen, who presented prizes to the winners. The group also presented a nice gift to Mrs. Robert Meyer, retiring president, for her service to the Guild during the past year.

Colorful decorations, complete with a lighted tree enhanced the festive party. The refreshments also carried out the Christmas motif.

Mr. George Bill was a guest and a new member present was Mrs. Buddy Ryan.

The January meeting will be held with Mrs. Bernard Bell.

Wear-Helm Class Holds Meeting

The Wear Helm Bible School Class of the First Christian Church assembled in the social rooms of the church, Friday, December 10, for its regular meeting. Mrs. Annie Wear, president, was in the chair.

At 12:00 o'clock, a most palatable lunch was served. The Christmas motif was observed in the table decorations. Following the noon hour a lovely yule tide program was participated in by Mrs. C. H. Redden, Mrs. Erv Johnson and Miss Emma Helm. During the business session, officers for 1949 were elected. They are Mrs. Annie Wear, president, re-elected; Mrs. Charlie Shroat, vice-president, re-elected; Miss Frankie Hollard, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. P. Wear, Mrs. Erv Johnson and Mrs. Claude Rowland were retained as teachers.

The report of Miss Lila Hildard, secretary-treasurer, was very gratifying, as several hundred visits, sick and evangelistic, had been made by the class; the financial record was encouraging.

The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Claude Rowland.

Those in attendance were: Mesdames C. H. Redden, Willie Wells, Charlie Shroat, Effie Daughd, Ole Newman, John Clifton, Claude Rowland, H. P. Wear, Annie Wear, Erv Johnson, Cardis Fair, Lila Jones, Rhoda Schroeder, Misses Emma-Helm, Frankie Hollard and Robbie Wear, one guest, Rev. Robert E. Jarman.

CHAPTER TWELVE

"The tea went on, endlessly. ANN thought. Tracy kept sitting in his comfortable chair in a corner, his eyes continually roving from one guest to another. Ann busied herself refilling tea cups and, being generally pleasant.

"She looked up to see that Tracy was watching two new arrivals. They were a very pretty fair-skinned couple, and a short, rather stout-looking, red-faced man who was carefully greasing his hair. Tracy always made her feel silly and schoolgirlish.

"He laughed, completely undisturbed, and studied her with that twinkle in his eyes that somehow made her feel always to make her feel silly and schoolgirlish.

"Oh, you'd be surprised!" he teased her. "I've had plenty of women who would marry you. Ann answered him grimly.

"We-e-e, of course the man-power situation being what it is," she drawled, as infuriatingly as she could, "with practically all the available men either too young or too old, and the best of them off fighting in the South Seas."

"I can imagine," said Ann and looked at him with warm, friendly eyes.

Tracy looked alarmed.

"Hi—don't do that!" he protested sharply.

Startled, she protested, puzzled, "Don't do what?"

"Look at me with that melting gaze!" he answered swiftly. "Remember I'm a country boy. I don't belong in your gang. I still take love seriously. I don't like a woman to call me 'darling' unless she means it!"

Lissa's voice, soft and warm and caught in a little gleam of laughter like small, bright jewels on a golden thread, asked laughingly, "What woman is calling you 'darling' and not meaning it, angel? Show her to me and I'll scratch her eyes out."

Tracy stood up swiftly, such obvious relief in his manner that Ann felt as though he had slapped her.

"Oh, there you are," he said happily and tucked his hand through Lissa's arm with a gesture that drew her close to him, bending his dark red head above her.

"I thought I'd lost you!"

Lissa said lightly, "Oh, I was getting off to a very good start with Dr. Frasier—and then one of his patients arrived, and wanted a—er—private conversation. And I've always been brought up to know when I'm not wanted."

She smiled up at Tracy with a warm, cozy intimacy that made Ann feel as though she were looking into a mirror. Which she told herself, was pretty silly, under the circumstances. But it was a genuine relief when the guests began to drift away, and Lissa took Tracy off, assuring Sarah that she had had a perfectly lovely time. There was a momentary discordance when Julie suggested brightly to Den that they join Ann and Lyn for dinner, and Den refused with a brusqueness so at variance with his usual slavish devotion that Julie's eyes flashed and her pretty mouth set in a thin, hard line.

Kirksey High School News

Thursday the entire High School was jubilant over drawing names for the annual exchange of Christmas gifts. There was excitement everywhere: wondering who, where and what!

The Junior class gave the Junior Class Play "Listen to Lester," Friday, December 3rd. It was a great success, even tho' the group labored under difficulties during the entire performance as Samuel Workman, one of the characters, was not able to be present. Mr. Raymond Story, sponsor, took Sam's part so the "play could go on." Each person present reported a very enjoyable evening entertainment.

Samuel Workman, junior, suffered a compound break of the leg, above the ankle, Friday afternoon, in a freak-meeting with the piano.

The cast has now been completed for the Freshman play "Mumbo-Jumbo," the brand-new three-act mystery farce by Jack Barnard. The central characters; those of harum-scarum college youths, will be played by Bobby Johnson and James Tucker, Marilyn Walker will portray a beautiful young woman under the strange spell of Dr. Omahandra, taken by Howard McCall. Sue Jones will be a Voodoo witch doctor, Donald Edwards a mysterious blindman. Myrna Adams will be Twetzie, a country lass; Glen Cunningham will be the Sheriff of Millburn and Loretta Turner will be his female rival, the sheriff of Hopetown. Others in the cast includes: La Verne Treas, Roy Swift, Pat Ross, Barbara Jones, Dorothy Tucker, Ted Cunningham and Sue Sulter.

The F. F. A. Chapter of Kirksey High School has been remodeling the stage. The back drop has been reworked and now has two doors, windows, arch, and a nice touch of color. The Club has also fixed a walk at the side of the building and hauled cinders to fill in various water holes. Now, the club is working on putting a pump in the basement for drainage.

The F. F. A. boys have begun to think about the annual banquet. They are thinking of having a Parent-Son Banquet under the direction of Mr. Story.

The Club is glad to say that they think their Club Heifer is very fine and hope she will make a high class milk cow.

The Seventh Grade played a basketball game with the Sixth Grade on Friday afternoon. The final score was 20-29 in favor of the Seventh Grade.

The Fifth Grade has recently been on a trip to the Murray Manufacturing Company and to the Calloway Court House. In the Court House, they visited the offices and learned what was done in each. They, also, heard part of a trial and saw the jail. The group enjoyed the trip very much. On the next trip they are planning to go to

Mayfield to visit the Merit and Pet Milk Company.

The Fourth Grade has new shades which they purchased by selling pop-corn at basket-ball games.

The Second Grade is decorating its room for Christmas. The group is also planning a Christmas program.

The First Grade has some new bulletins, number charts and books purchased through its part in the Operetta given last month. Mrs. Farris says that they are decorating the room for Christmas—you can see Santa everywhere.

The P. T. A. is meeting Wednesday, December 15.

The school received the chairs given to them by the P. T. A. today. We certainly are proud of them, as they were badly needed.

Eastside Homemakers Will Meet Wednesday

The Eastside Homemakers Club will hold their regular December meeting at the home of Mrs. Curtis Hays of Route 6. Time of meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. Wed. December 12. An exchange of handmade gifts will be made at the recreational period.

Mrs. Sam Adams and Mrs. Allen Wells will bring the major lesson on "Fitting." Mrs. C. B. Hays will give the minor lesson on the "Edicette of travel."

All members are urged to attend and visitors are always welcome.
